

Marie Prevost: Canadian Film Actress of Early Hollywood

Marie Prevost like many other film actors and actresses were unable to make the transition from silent motion pictures to sound productions. Prevost was a Canadian of French and Scottish descent who came to the United States for her education. She entered movies first as a bit player and then as a bathing beauty for film producer Mack Sennett. Determined to become a star she auditioned numerous times before landing movie roles. From 1924 through 1928 she was a major star. In this era her presence alone was enough to make a production successful. My e-book looks closely at Marie as an actress, the men she married, and the players she was cast with in movies. Her fall from popularity was quick and brutal. Prevost died an untimely and tragic death at the young age of 38.
