

Ever True: Civil War Letters of Private Charles McDowell, New York Ninth Heavy Artillery

The transcribed letters of Charles McDowell and his wife, Nancy, display remarkable devotion, and offer readers a unique perspective of the Civil War. These letters contain little known details about: hangings, prostitution, amputations, desertions, theft and murder among Union troops. Charles also describes personal contacts with Lincoln and Seward (of Seward's Alaskan Folly); battles of Cold Harbor, Jerusalem Plank Road, Monocacy, Opequon, Fishers Hill, Cedar Creek; the Siege of Petersburg; Mosbys Men; and the Shenandoah Valley and Appomattox Campaign. The Ninth Heavy Artillery was a part of the Sixth Corps. This story is cohesive and informative yet charming and romantic in a very personal way. Vintage photographs enhance the text.
