

Excel for Accountants, The Magic to Know

In the financial field Excel isn't just a medium, it's your greatest tool. When you unlock its potential there's very little that you can't do with financial data processing and report preparation. Even if you only save 15 minutes a day, that's 65 hours per year! Reports that used to take hours to compile and format can now be completed in a matter of seconds. You can create your own functions and add them to your instance of Excel uniquely to your computer so frequent tasks become only a click of a button . . . if you know how. And it's easy. Once you've learned these formulas and methods you won't know how you managed to operate without them. This book was written to be understood in a quick reference method, and to make power users out of beginners . . . and Excel magicians out of regular users.
