

Fine Fleur

Fleur seems to have had no chances since birth. In a hospital, she came to the world. As a foster child with multiple disabilities, Fleur grew up in a family where there were three boys with severe disabilities. Gradually, it became clear that Fleur could do more than everyone understood. The foster parents found a way to communicate with her, making people amazed at Fleur. Despite her limitations, Fleur grew into an inspiring woman with a strong will. She brought hope to a lot of people. During her marriage, Mannie Pol (1937) had three children and then studied physiotherapy. After the divorce, she specialized in the treatment of children with brain disorders and lectures for NDT course (training for physicians and therapists). From there, she was inspired to write articles. When she met Fleur, she met her partner with whom she built a nest for three boys with severe disabilities.
