

Talk Show Selects 1999

Talk Show Selects profiles the most influential radio and television talk shows in the nation. We comb through thousands of programs, stations and networks to find shows at top markets that use outside material and guests. In short, these are the shows that matter. Every listing includes the name of the producer, host or programming executive responsible for deciding what gets on the air. Addresses and phone numbers are given for each show as well as fax numbers and online information, in a majority of listings. Listings for local radio provide station format, frequency and wattage, while local television listings have network affiliation and channel assignment. Finally, most programs have provided a brief descriptions of what topics and guests they look for in their own words. A complete index lists all shows by title and by call letters or network. Three sections give you direct access to the most influential broadcast media decision makers: state and city; national radio; and national television.
