

Madam Ataturk

Sumptuous, surprising, and profound. Orhan Pamuk Mustafa Kemal Ataturk is hailed as one of the most charismatic political leaders of the twentieth century, but little is known today about his one and only wife, Latife Hanım. A multilingual intellectual who read law at the Sorbonne, she was a suffragist who closely followed women's movements around the world. Her marriage set her apart from her contemporaries, raising her to the pinnacle of political power, truly able to work for the betterment of the women of Turkey. But just after two and a half years, Ataturk divorced her and Hanım was forgotten and maligned. Public opinion became dominated by the image of a sharp-tongued, quarrelsome woman who strained Ataturk's nerves. In the first biography to be written on Latife Hanım, Ipek Calislar reveals an astonishing woman, ahead of her time. Ipek Calislar is a journalist and writer. She has worked for the Turkish daily Cumhuriyet for twelve years, as news editor and later as the Sunday supplement editor. An international bestseller, Madam Ataturk is her first literary work. Feyza Howell was born in 1957 in Izmir, Turkey. Her translations include Fiasco by Coskun Buktel, The Book of Madness by Levent Senyurek, and The Concubine by Gul Irepolgu.
