

Best Of DyingWords - Book 4: Provoking Thoughts on Life, Death, and Writing from a Retired Homicide Detective and Forensic Coroner

Having health and happiness is the true secret to a successful and meaningful life so says Garry Rodgers, best-selling crime writer and signature blogger at the Huffington Post, in this collection of his best 126 blog posts from the popular blogging site, DyingWords.net. In this compilation of a three-part series, Best of DyingWords Provoking Thoughts on Life, Death, and Writing from a Retired Homicide Detective and Forensic Coroner, Garry Rodgers and invited blogging guests from professional disciplines provoke thoughts on broad and fascinating topics such as forensic pathology, criminal investigation and procedure, true crime writing, crime thriller writing, personal success principles and on the age-old question: is there life after death? Best of DyingWords Provoking Thoughts on Life, Death, and Writing is far more than a collection of academic articles by bloggers and thought leaders. It is arranged and written in a style unique among forensic, writing resource, and self-help books, yet contains at its core the positive mental attitude about life success formula that is central to Napoleon Hill's classic motivational book, Think and Grow Rich. Provoking Thoughts has its lighter side, too. You'll find beauty in your backyard, hear about the modern-day Gunfight at the O.K. Corral, take a ride in the King of Speed's supersonic SR-71 Blackbird spy plane, and read about the dumbest thing Garry Rodgers did as a young, rookie cop.
