

Martin and Me. - My Life on Hold

When Anne Louise Larpnel and her husband discovered that he had Alzheimers Disease, they decided that Anne Louise would care for Martin in their own home for as long as she could. In this insightful blend of memoir and how-to, Anne Louise reveals her personal story of strength and determination in the hope that it will help others make an informed decision about caring for an ill loved one in their own home. Exploring the challenges, and the benefits that the decision will bring. The book showcases how homecare for a husband with dementia is in the end about love, devotion, patience, and understanding.
