

The Lodge at Cloudcroft: 100 Years of Hospitality

Since 1899, there has been a Lodge at Cloudcroft. For 10 years the first Lodge provided impeccable service to their guests before it burned down - a blow to both tourists and locals alike. In 1911, the new Lodge rose from the ashes and, relocated to the top of the mountain, it resumed the business of providing cool summer get-aways from the summer heat, entertainment, and a golf course second to none. Their joint history covers 113 years and this book focuses on the new Lodge. The Lodge is, of course, just a building. Its the people who have worked there across a century that have made it what it is - from rustic get-away to sophisticated hotel. There is a story of two world wars, the Great Depression, and all the good years in between. This book starts the story with the June 1, 1911 opening of the new Lodge and closes with the Centennial celebration held on June 1, 2011. Included are stories of the various owners and managers including M.B. Hutchins (1915-32) - Mein Host Hutchins - and Conrad Hilton founder of the Hilton Hotel Chain (1933-35). A special section is devoted to the award winning golf course, at one time the highest in altitude in the world. And the story of The Lodge would not be complete without delving into the story of the vivacious chambermaid, Rebecca. Her mysterious death led to her haunting of The Lodge to this very day. Or is it all the writers imagination? Join us on this journey on the cloud climbing railroad; a journey of life, love, triumph, sorrow, and, above all, a hundred years of hospitality at The Lodge Resort in Cloudcroft.
